Shore Builders Association of Central NJ Hosts the Annual Golden Gloves Event At Monmouth University's Boylan Gymnasium

Golden Gloves boxers are preparing to square off in what they believe to be a stepping stone into the national stage in the world of amateur boxing. Hosted by The Shore Builders Association of Central NJ (SBACNJ), "Friday Night at the Golden Gloves" event will be held at Monmouth University, West Long Branch, on Friday, March 26, 2010 at 7:30p.m. in the Boylan Gymnasium. The event will feature amateur men's "quarter finals" boxing and is sanctioned by the Golden Gloves NJ Association, Inc.

"We are proud to announce that special guest, former heavyweight championship fighter Gerry Cooney, will be on hand to sign autographs" states Dwight Pittenger, President of SBACNJ. Cooney was best known for his loss to Larry Holmes in one of the most celebrated boxing matches in history and has holds two Golden Gloves Championships himself. "This will be the fourth year that the SBACNJ is hosting this boxing event. Last year's success demonstrated to us the popularity of these types of venues and the sport of boxing. It seems to get larger each year," continues Pittenger. The star studded Golden Gloves event is open to the public and general admission prices are starting at $20.00 per ticket. Monmouth University students and faculty are offered discount tickets for $15.00 with a valid Monmouth University ID. Seating is limited and general admission tickets will also be sold at the door.

Friday Night at the Golden Gloves will also be attended by the members and associates of SBACNJ who can purchase dinner tickets featuring an hour of cocktail networking followed by dinner. Tickets for SBACNJ members for dinner and admission are $125.00. Sponsorship and marketing opportunities are available through the Shore Builder's Association of Central NJ.
